WASHINGTON, March 19, 1845.

The Senate went into Executive session to day at 12 M. and adjourned ever till to-morrow, when it will probably only remain in session a few hourand adjourn till December next.

We are quite bare of news here at present. The President and heads of departments are moving slowly along. There is not the slightest stir among any of the Members of the Cabinet, or any proba bility of any,newspaper correspondence to the contrary notwithstanding.

The late decision of the Texas question ha shown the working of our institutions in a new light. Where flother nations have extended territory alone by conquest, or acquired it by the ritory alone by conquest, or acquired it by the sword, our principles or free form of government, possess greater power than the sword, and secures peaceable acquisitions of provinces, of great extent and value. While other nations have exhausted themselves by expensive and bloody wars for the subjection and defence of territory, we have only to sit still and let our free principles spread abroad, and bring in whole provinces as last as we want them. In this way we have acquired Texas, and it is in this way we shall acquire California. Americans are already settling out there The Alcalde is said to be a native of New England. Others have followed, laid out cotton fields, and a new town in o lots, and are doing other "go-ahead" things, the "ilk" of which the Anglo-Saxon race are alone in the habit of doing. In a few years more, I dare say, they will have an omnibus running from their new town to some watering place on the sea shore, near the outlet of the Bay of San Francisco. After a little while, we may expect to hear of a fine of stages from Texas, over to this new town, connecting with another line from it to St. Louis, and one other to the Wilamette, ou the Columbia River. But long before that time, our free Institutions, or principles, will have peaceably conquered the country, and all that will be necessary for its consummation, will be the announcement by joint resolutions in Congress.

All the Foreign Diplomatic corps paid a visit to the President to-day, in full court costumes, and were courteously received.

Senor Almente and suite departed in the Baltimore cars this afternoon, en route for New York, and probably Mexico.

[Correspondence of the Herald.]
PHILADELPHIA, March 20, 1845.
ive mass meeting last night, in Independence square, was a dead failure, considering the wast prepara-tions and loud political thunder by which it was preceded They expected nothing less than to fill the square, and i that anticipation three separate stands were erected in the open sir, and three court rooms, capable of holding about 400 each, were engaged and lighted. Not more than enough people were brought together to make one cleve gathering at the principal stand; the rest were totally de gathering at the principal stand; the rest totally of se ted, and in order to make something of a show, the court rooms were occupied by seperate organizations, and the mass occiliated as it were between them and the stan-in the central avenue of the square. They did this best to make the most of the numbers present, but they coulin the central avenue of the square. They did their best to make the most of the numbers present, but they couint to make the most of the numbers present, but they couint to conceal their weakness. One thousand would tell them all. Among the mass were large numbers of the two great political parties, which have ever divided this country from the commencement of her history, attracted to the spot by cartosity – by a desire to know whether this new faction, with its bruial spirit of religious perscention and all the gross and illiberal elements of feudal burbs riam, had really taken such a hold upon the enlightened people of this country as is represented. The universal opinism from fast night's demonstration appears to be that it has no that the days of nativism are numbered.

The character of the speakers and speeches were such as might have been expected. The most violent and unscrupifous of the crew were there. There was a great deal of superlative nousenes exhibited for the especial edification of the rank and flie in general, and a variamont of "I am better than then" denunciation, for the benefit of foreigners and papits in particular. The complacency with which large masses of our people listen to the torrants of false logic—false history—and false morality, which are poured out upon them at these gathering, proves that there is a vast amount of ignorance and stupidity yet existing among us—an ignorance far more dangerous to our country and the permanence of republican institutions, than all the forces of Popery, or the secret wites of Jesuitism.

The news from Europe is calculated to exert an important bearing upon this country, and I think particularly upon Panneyivania. The tariff of 1842, appears to me to be annihilated by the late action of the British ministry. Not only the admission of cotton duty free, but all raw material, including iron, of which we produce one million two hundred and twenty seven thousand, six hundred on the whole continent. Iron is the staple of Pennsylvania—news, had nearly c oren her markets to us, and I should not be surprised if Peunsylvania, from a high tariff, should become a decided anti-tariff State. Indeel, I confidently expect such to be the case.

The interest manifested about this time, in the coming election and the European news, had nearly caused movements which are taking place in other directions to escape my observation. The theatrical campaign has opened in good earnest. Palmo has taken Old Drury, the Chesmut street, and intends opening with the "Ethiopian Opera," as it is called, and of course the Italian will be buillequed in style. Burton, as I informed you a few days ago, opens at the Arch street on Saturday, and he brings back to the boards some of Philadelphia's favorites in times gone by, while he supports them with an excellent cumpany. Mrs. Smith, formerly Miss Riddle, whom I first recoilect at this establishment, a long time ago, playing Namaoki to Forre it's Metsmora, when that piece was a decided favorite among our playageers. Besides, there is Coaner, Barrett, Johnson and others, not to mention Burton himself, who are decidedly popular. Mr. Bopens with a new plece called "Texas," which is very appropriate for the present time. Gen. Welsh has brought out a new plece called the "Philadelphia Spy," a tale of the recolution, which drew a crowded house last night. The variety and beauty of the entertainments produced at this establishment, render it highly attractive, and the house is always filled, no matter what other interesting subject is on the tapis elsewhere.

A lad about vineteen years of age, convicted in the Court of Quarter Sessions last night of robbing a money drawer some time since, and sentenced to the county prison for four years, made his escape in a singular manner, while being conveyed to the place of confinement.—He was alone locked in the prison, what was their astonishment to find, for the first time, that the bird had flown.—They had use heard his operations in consequence of the rumbling noise of the vehicle itself. He has not been h

From California.—A letter from Thos. O. Larkin, Esq., dated Monterey, Dec. 12, 1844, received at the office of the Whalemen's Shipping Last, furnishes the following copy of a law recently issued at California, in behalf of whalers. Mr. L. says:—"It may be proper to sdd, that although California is one of the Mexican departments, and duly bound to follow the laws of Mexico, yet such is not always the case. Laws are often made here to suit the place and the times, even to annulling parts of the Mexican tariff, and entering in the Custom House at Monterey many articles not allowed by Mexico; there being no one merchantable article but what can be entered here on paying the duties laid by this Collector, not withstanding tone afths of said articles are prohibited by Mexico."

by Mexico.

As the whalemen are now all seeking the N. W. Coast, the ports of California offer many inducements for them to visit us. From the mouth of September to December, they are generally sure to find the provisions they most stand in need of, and can find no better ports in the Pacific as regards the salubrity of the climate."

On the date of the 19th of October last, I have ordered the Administrator of the Custom House of this port, the following:

The Superior Government of this department, sonvin ced of the great injury sustained by the inhabitants of the same; especially the laboring class, from the prohibition or whalers to change their goods for provisions as was foamerly customary, and likewise that no detriment is suffered by the existing commerce of the country by granting the permission, inasmuch as the latter is effectuated solely by exchanging hides and tallow, and the former merely seek for seed, potatoes and meat, in quantity, and no other production of the country; and desiring by all possible means to procure the general prosperity, and give impulse to the rising agriculture of the country, which is the branch to which its inhabitants mostly dedicate themselves, by facilitating to them the means of exporting their seeds:—I have been induced to decree, that until the supreme resolution which I have so icited from Mexico arrives, whale ships may purchase provisions with goods. To which end the Custom House will permit them to sell to an amount the corresponding duties of which shall not exceed fourthundred dollars ($400) and which they must pay according to valuation, each vessel paying also for the privilege, and instead of tonnage duties, thirty dollars ($40) In consequence the Custom House will take all the measures and precautions which may be judged necessary, in order that this resolution be punctually complied with, and watch over the conduct of said vessels in the best possible menner. To which effect said Custom House may designate in the port of San Francisco where the greater part of them go to the place of anchorage which it may esteem most convenient for witching over them, and if any thing more should be wanting to attain this object it may be proposed to this government for approval.

And I tr
